Most effective collaborative approach to integrated new models of care

This award recognises effective approaches to integrated and collaborative partnerships, which bring together workers from different agencies to coordinate and/or deliver adult services that are focused on the individual, not the organisation or profession.

About the award

We're looking for partnerships that can demonstrate collaboration across various agencies and:

- how they developed and sustained the new way of working
- how they identified workforce development requirements.

Those entering will need to explain what evaluation has been done to modify and share the learning and evidence the benefits of the integrated way of working for the people (adults) they support.

Who should enter: collaboratives across all sectors who can demonstrate effective integrated ways of working, including - but not limited to –social care, health, housing, the arts, sports, public health and voluntary or community groups.

How to enter

The Accolades awards are free to enter.

We've prepared this category information sheet to help you put your entry together.

Look too at our entry guide for tips and rules of entry.

Online entries open on Tuesday 7 May 2019.

The closing date for entries is 21 June 2019.
