

Care Certificate assessment opportunity 4

Assisting with meal preparation

This will involve the new care worker:

- Going to client' house
- Preparing client's meal

Description of assessment activity

A new care worker will be assisting a client, to prepare a meal.

This process has been explained to the client who has agreed to an extra person observing the assessment. The process has also been explained to client's next of kin, who are also in support of it and see the benefit of new workers' practice being observed and signed off.

The new care worker will check with X what they would like to eat and support in the preparation of the meal in accordance with the care plan. X will be encouraged to do as much as they can independently. The new care worker will wash their own hands prior to any food preparation and ensure any special utensils are clean and ready for use.

The food and drink will be placed in a position easy for X to access. The new care worker will check any communication devices are in good working order.
